Claim Objections

Claims 5, 8, and 12 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Applicant should rewrite the phrases "a first engagement site", "a second engagement site", and "defined by as" to read the first engagement site, the second engagement site, and defined as. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim 12 recites the limitation "the edge". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Regarding claim 3, it is unclear what is meant by the Applicant's recitation "the top side thereof and the underside thereof" therefor the claims are confusing and indefinite.

Regarding claim 11, the claim improperly depends form itself.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3-6 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 5,092,652 to Macaluso.

Claim 1, Macaluso discloses a table comprising a main section 10 and an end section removably attachable to the main section. With regards to the table being employed as a patient table it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987)

Claim 3, in which at least two engagement sites for mutual inter-engagement are provided on each section, with the engagement sites of each part being spaced along the length thereof, the first engagement site 44 closest the end of the respective section being adapted to engage on the top side thereof and the second engagement site (48,50) more distant from the end being adapted to engage on the underside thereof.

Claim 4, in which the engagement sites are arranged with a central engagement site 52 and two lateral engagement sites (48,50) proximate the edges of the table.

Claim 5, in which a second engagement site of each part is a ledge beneath which a first engagement site of the other parts can locate.

Claim 6, in which the ledge is defined by an underlying recess (fig. 5).

Claim 8, in which the ledge is defined by as one face of a protruding pin (fig. 5).

Claim 9, in which the first engagement sites are formed as surfaces upon which the second engagement sites can rest.

Claim 10, in which the first engagement sites are provided with a profile 46 adapted to retain engagement.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 3,741,852 to Keener

Claim 1, Keener discloses a table comprising a main section 19 and an end section (11,12,14,17) removably attachable to the main section. With regards to the table being employed as a patient table it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987)

Claim 2, in which the end section is one plurality of such sections (11,12,14,17), the plurality including sections with different shapes.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7 and 11-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
